DEAR PARTNERS OF INTER_SPEECH 2019,

INTER_SPEECH has become the world's largest and most comprehensive conference on the science and technology of spoken language processing. The conference features world-class speakers, oral and poster sessions, tutorials, special sessions and challenges, show&tell, exhibitions and satellite events. An important objective of INTER_SPEECH is to be an arena for scientific exchange in all aspects of the Speech Communication Sciences. With its focus on spoken language, it is at the heart of artificial intelligence as MIT's Josh Tenenbaum brings it to the point: "There's no way you can have an AI system that's humanlike that doesn't have language at the heart of it". So be sure that this will be a world-class event attracting large crowds from the AI, machine learning, and data science communities at the same time.

INTER_SPEECH has grown significantly over the past 5 years with an all-time record of 1800 participants so far, and we anticipate that the event in Sep. 2019 in Graz, Austria, will be the first to break the barrier of 2000 participants from all over the world. You can help us to achieve this success! We are seeking the support of all organizations related to the Speech Communication field, ranging from the humanities to speech science, technology, and engineering as well as artificial intelligence: public institutions, academic partners, small, medium or large enterprises, publishers, project consortia, and more.

We are pleased to invite you to take part in this flagship event as a sponsor or exhibitor. Your involvement will play a significant role in advancing science and technology, and help us keep registration fees affordable. We will help you to promote your organization as a key player in the field by your presence in Graz, your visibility on the conference site, conference material and website, and possibly by your participation to the student grants fund, your sponsoring of a social event, etc. Among the most significant benefits that your support will bring you is the opportunity to meet and network with our large crowd of conference attendees where many of them are early-career researchers on the move.

WE ARE LOOKING FORWARD TO WELCOMING YOU AS A STRONG PARTNER
OF INTER_SPEECH 2019 IN GRAZ.

WELCOME TO AUSTRIA – WELCOME TO GRAZ IN 2019

In 1791 the first comprehensive book on the core scientific areas of Speech Communication (from linguistic theory and speech physiology, articulatory and acoustic phonetics to speech modeling and simulation as well as applied speech technology) was published in Austria, the “Mechanism of Human Speech next to the Description of his Speaking Machine” by Wolfgang von Kempelen, a true crossroads citizen born into the trilingual and back then Austro-Hungarian city of Bratislava-Pressburg-Pozsony. Over 200 years later, the 20th Annual Conference of the International Speech Communication Association INTERSPEECH 2019 will be held in Graz, Austria, from Sep. 15-19, 2019. The theme of the conference comprises three key elements important in speech research today: language diversity, diversity of applications, and diversity of representation.

- » Graz lies at the unique crossroads in the heart of Europe where the large Romance, Slavonic, and Germanic language families meet. In a globalized world, the regional varieties of pluricentric languages are becoming ever more important to shape our linguistic identities.
- » Speech and Language are active research topics of all four universities in Graz. Through special sessions, we will explore crossroads of Speech and Language with science and technology, with the humanities and language teaching, with medical diagnosis and therapy, and with singing and artistic performance.
- » Speech and Language by themselves span a wide range of representation layers in the ‘stacks’ of human-human, or human-machine communication, extending from the bits of the acoustic waveform to pragmatics at discourse level. We will put special emphasis on the deep interaction among and across these representation layers by soliciting invited talks around these issues.

HIGH TECH-HIGHLIGHTS, MADE IN GRAZ/AUSTRIA

The heart of research in Europe beats in Austria: Graz and the province of Styria spend more than 5,1% of their regional domestic product on research and development which is more than any other of the 276 regions in Europe invests. So do not put aside the music, cultural and touristic highlights you associate with Austria in your mind, but rather add a strong beacon on your international technology map.

Graz and Southern Austria demonstrate global leadership in automotive engineering and electronic systems with two chip foundries and several thousand engineers. Near-field communication (NFC) payments: created in Graz; security chips for electronic passports: exclusively designed in Graz, for almost all countries in the world, including the USA; not to mention MEMS microphones, loudspeakers, and much more. Founded in 2018, Silicon Austria Labs with 500 research scientists and engineers will further boost the region.

And if a traffic accident in a long tunnel is spotted faster using machine learning for distributed acoustic event detection, be sure that these “tunnel ears” come from Graz, too. As one of 80 million international travelers, you may carry Graz in your pocket using a mobile translation app developed here.

Finally, almost 30% of our high-school graduates opt for further education in STEM (science, technology, engineering, mathematics) areas. Two of these students won a million dollar cheque for the Netflix challenge a few years ago. Others were the first in the world to drive 10,000 km with a single litre of fuel. So the future is fueled right from the heart of Europe!

THE CITY OF GRAZ AND THE CONFERENCE VENUE

The City of Graz is the second largest city of Austria with an excellent conference venue, the “Messecongress Graz” just a leisurely 15-minute walk from the historic city centre. This high-tech venue regularly hosts major events with up to 16,000 participants. The city offers plenty of hotel rooms of all categories, and an international airport within easy reach from major hubs in Frankfurt, Munich, Vienna, Zurich, Amsterdam, and more. Graz has been awarded the titles of UNESCO World Cultural Heritage since 1999, European Capital of Culture in 2003, Austrian Capital of Culinary Delights since 2008, and UNESCO City of Design since 2011. And within a radius of 200 km, touristic attractions of the Alps-Adriatic region include:

- » Charming cities like Vienna, Salzburg, Hallstatt, Bad Ischl, Udine, Trieste, Ljubljana, Opatija, Zagreb,
- » Natural beauty such as the Dachstein mountain, the Ausseerland-Salzkammergut, the Grossglockner High Alpine Road, South Styria with its wine routes, the summer mountain pastures of the Lipizzaner horses, Lake Bled, the Adriatic Sea, the two steppe lakes Lake Neusiedl and Lake Balaton.

So please do not miss the unique opportunity to enjoy the INTERSPEECH conference, the City of Graz, and Austria! We will make all efforts to create a memorable event that comes up to the highest of your expectations.
